

PAMELA L. R. HORN

worth noting that one of the Executors of the Will was John Banbury—a Woodstock draper and leading Methodist who had played an active role in the early days of the agricultural trade union movement in Oxfordshire. The web of the past had not been entirely broken, after all!

---

BIBLIOGRAPHY 1968 (Jan.-June)

- FISHER, A. S. T., The history of Broadwell, Oxon., with Filkins, Kelmscott and Holwell, Burford, 1968.
- HAVINDEN, M. A., Agricultural progress in open-field Oxfordshire (Essays in agrarian history, reprints ed. by W. E. Minchington. Vol. 1, p. 147-59), 1968.
- HORN, P. L. R., Farmers' defence associations in Oxfordshire, 1872-74 (Univ. Hall, Buckland. Hist. studies, vol. 1, p. 63-70), 1968.
- LEFF, G., Paris and Oxford universities in the 13th and 14th centuries (New dimensions in history, Essays in contemporary history), New York &c., 1968.
- OXLEY, J. E. A history of Wesley memorial church, Oxford, 1818-1968, Oxford, 1968.

D. CHENEY.